“O, memories! O; past that is.” Eliot

My Memory Book shall keep for me a record of:

My home;
Recollections of my father and my mother;
My school days;
My first position;
My travels and incidents connected therewith;
Autographs of my friends;
(May also be secured by clippings from letters, or separately on a sheet of paper and pasted in.)
Wedding, birth and obituary notices;
Pressed flowers and leaves;
Music; what it means to me and what I like best.
Works of art; my favorites and some reproductions;
The science in which I am most interested;

History;
The events which during my lifetime have made and are making it, with my observations in a few words daily, written on a separate sheet and pasted in.
Literature;
The books I like best; my favorite poems; short stories.
Pictures of people of note;
Programmes and press notices;
My criticism of plays I have seen;
Church affairs;
My ideals, their inspiration and their food;
My hobbies;
My club and social activities;
My family tree;

And all other things affording interest to others who may inherit my possessions.

Name  Elsie Beatrice Green.

Dearest Elsie:

I have known you only about four months, but I have learned to love and admire you very much. I shall remember your intelligent answers in English 301 and 302 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9:00 to 10:00. I shall also remember our second midterm exam. I’m glad I came to dear ole A.C.C., and I’m glad I found you here.

Everyone else has written such complimentary lines about you that I can only say Amen to all of them. I wish for you the best of success and much happiness; and I ask you to remember me, whe in the future you shall have made a name for yourself or when you shall have taken another name than Green.

Love —

Miss Elsie, you are a member of a Christian family which is, in my judgment, one of the best families in my acquaintance.

As one in that good family you have impressed me with your sincerity and Christian devotion. I appreciate you as a student also. Your conscientious application to responsibilities and your strong desire to measure up to your best have caused my appreciation of you to grow. It will be a pleasure always to assist you, and to believe you regard me as a Christian friend.

Sincerely,

Elsie:

Your good work in Psychology and Public Speaking has been encouraging to me. You know, a good student, one who carries his part of the load, is always an inspiration to a teacher.

I congratulate you on your accomplishment, and I am wishing for you all the nice things of life.

Sincerely, John N. Watson
