With our years of experience and service to churches, we understand every project is unique. While some overall needs may be the same – the people involved are different. The churches are different.

Preston Road Church of Christ
University Park, Texas
Addition/Renovation.

No two projects are the same...

At HALLUM ARCHITECTS, we see the big picture. We create total environments, interiors and exteriors, that satisfy functional needs and are exciting, dynamic places to worship, study and fellowship.

From the start, we analyze the natural environment and then design to work from nature. We employ time-tested design solutions to help minimize the owner's long-term energy and maintenance costs.

they "grow" from the site in a way that makes sense.

Throughout the entire design and construction process, HALLUM ARCHITECTS provides experienced leadership to help define needs and control costs. HALLUM ARCHITECTS takes great pride in balancing design, construction quality and owner's budget - the realities of every project.

Farmers Branch Church of Christ

A well-designed building serves the church.

"The Lackland AFB Chapel is one of the most interesting and intelligent architectural designs we have seen – an excellent example of how good American design can be. We are especially interested in the energy efficient aspects, which are an integral part of this attractive and functional building."

— James H. Johnson
National Endowment for the Arts

All-Faiths Chapel
Lackland AFB
San Antonio, Texas
Sanctuary: 500 Seats.
For more than four decades, HALLUM ARCHITECTS has been committed to providing better architectural solutions for churches.

Each project is an opportunity to participate in the greatest endeavor of all.

While we are experienced in virtually all types of design and construction, we choose to focus on serving churches. As Christians we want to dedicate our professional lives to help build the kingdom of God.
