Book Review: BOOK THAT NO ONE WANTED TO READ, THE

Situated on the top shelf in a library is a long-ignored book that describes itself as “the book that no one wants to read.” The story of this lonely book is told in the form of a conversation between the book and a library patron.

Like its comedian author, the book has a quirky sense of humor. It is through this humor, as well as the illustrations, that the book leads readers to consider why books are chosen and sadly... ignored.

While the book's target age would be grades 5-8, the humor might be best suited for older readers in high school and beyond.
