The Bible. The Word of God

February 17, 1952

By James W. Nichols

It is told that when Stanley started across the continent of Africa, he had seventy-three books in three packs weighing 180 pounds. After he had gone 300 miles he was obliged to throw away some of his books, through the fatigue of those carrying his baggage, until he had but one book left. That book was the Bible. It is said that he read it through three times during the journey.

In this age of division, there is need in a similar way for people to rely on the Bible. Too much confidence is placed in what the preacher says or believes. So many times have we experienced this answer to a religious problem, "my minister says this," but, oh so very seldom do we hear, "the Bible has said." There is need in this turbulent world for men to cast aside the complex books of men, and search the scriptures daily, as did the people of Berea in Acts 17:11.

Too many of us are gullible enough to sit with the mouth of our heart wide open, waiting to willingly accept every theory, every idea, that any man may present. Let some man say, "I am a preacher," and people seem to throw open their hearts and minds to what he has to say. The person that reads the Bible but little should recognize that there are to be false prophets and teachers. Paul writing to Timothy in II Timothy 4:3-4 says, "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." The apostle Peter also said in II Pet. 2:1, "But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction." Therefore, we should guard our hearts from false doctrine and search the scriptures that we might be sure that our faith is based on the Bible alone.

Why should we rely only on the Bible for spiritual authority? Perhaps the basic answer for this question lies in the fact that the Bible is the word of God. For centuries the blows of skepticism and unbelief have rained harmlessly on this grand old book. A brilliant Frenchman, Voltaire, more than a hundred years ago uttered a prophecy. He boasted that it had taken twelve men to set up Christianity, but he would show them that a single man was enough to overthrow it; and that in a hundred years the Bible would be a forgotten book. Yet in our newspapers we are informed that there is a great shortage of Bibles. Millions of copies are needed to meet the demand of the public. Show me another book that has weathered such criticism and nearly two thousand years after it is written it is the best seller. Show me another book that has been ordered burned by governments, and yet many years after it was thought all copies were destroyed, stands out as the most universally known book.

I am sure that one of the paramount reasons that the Bible is so popular is due to the exact fulfillment of the prophecies found therein. Babylon, at the time of Isaiah's prophecy was a large and populous city located on the Euphrates river, and surrounded by a gigantic wall sufficiently strong to keep out the most ferocious marauders. Some historians say it reached seventy feet high, with sufficient width to drive three chariots abreast completely around the top. The city covered an area of fifteen square miles. Isaiah said, "And Babylon . . . shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation; neither shall the Arabians pitch tent there; neither shall shepherds make their flocks to lie down there." Isaiah 13:19. These words were spoken when Babylon was in its prime, over twenty-seven hundred years ago. Now, in 1952, and for many centuries before, the city had no inhabitants. It lies there silent, with great heaps of rubbish caused by the smouldering ruins as they tumble down. No human lives in that forsaken place. Not because of unfavorable climate, for no finer can be found than that of the Euphrates valley. Then why should it be uninhabited? No reason, so far as I know, except God said, "It shall never be inhabited." Who but God, I ask, could have foreseen for these many centuries this marvelous happening? If such were impossible for man, does not this furnish an uncontrovertible evidence that God is the author of the Book?

About fifty years ago one of our American citizens decided to go to the ruins of this curious city and unearth some of those dilapidated buildings to see whether any more of the evidences of its former grandeur might be found. He secured the assistance of over two dozen Arabs to do the manual labor. These helpers, the first afternoon as the shadows were growing long, silently folded their tents and left the scenes of loneliness, never to return. Why? Simply because, God said, "The Arabian shall not pitch his tent there." Who but God could have foreseen this?

And so on through the prophecies found in this old book, the Bible. If time permitted, we could speak of the prophecy of the destruction of Tyre found in Ezekial 26 and many others, but you can see from these that God must be the author of the Bible.

But again ask yourself, "Could a book that took about 1300 years to be written by 30 to 40 men, many of whom lived centuries apart, be continually consistent, if it were only the work of man?" Time and time again men have tried to discredit the Bible because they thought it was inconsistent, but each time they have failed. Why, even the claims have been brought to the courts in our land, but each time the impartial judges have ruled that the Bible is consistent and true. This, alone, without the other forceful evidence, should convince us that only God could have guided the hands that wrote the book.

In past years, perhaps, more blows have been directed toward the Bible in relation to historical truth. The Bible's history has been questioned over and over, but in every case some discovery has put the questioners to confusion. Take the case of the Hittites. The critics said there was no such people; that the Bible was mistaken. The inspired had adopted a myth. Just at the right time, their inscriptions were uncovered. Now our critics are very quiet about the Hittites. Then it was Sargon. They ridiculed the idea of such a man at the date given him in the Bible, but Sargon's record was deciphered and they lost interest in him. Then it was Belshazer. The Bible says he was the last king of Babylon, but the antiquarians said Nabonidus was the last, and of course heathen records were more likely to be true than the Bible. A later discovery satisfied everybody that the two were father and son and reigned jointly, and that the Bible story is true. We could mention Job's testimony of the empty space in the northern sky in Job 26:7, and the confirmation of this fact by the strongest tele scopes. The Bible has stood, and will stand.

Yet, to me one of the greatest things about this old book is its revelation of God. The purpose from Genesis to Revelation is to reveal God to man: to tell of justices and mercy of God: to reveal the fact that God would have all men to be saved. The Bible reveals a supreme Being, a God and creator that is love. It reveals for me a patch of light shining through the dark veil of death.

Then reviewing these facts and seeing that no man could accomplish this great fact, I turn to the book and find that it testifies over and over that it is the word of God. It tells us that the men who recorded the things found therein were moved by the Holy Spirit. Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekial, Paul, Peter and the others speak of being moved by the Spirit to write. The only conclusion I can accept is that the Bible is the word of God. Then, accepting this fact, is it unreasonable to ask you to rely on this grand old book?

Yet, not only must we rely on it but we must rely on it alone. Paul tells Timothy in II Timothy 3:16, "Every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction which is in righteousness; that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work." Paul says in Romans 1:16 that "the Gospel is the power of God unto salvation." The psalmist, in Psalms 19:7 wrote, "The law of Jehovah is perfect, restoring the soul." Christ prayed unto the Father, "Sanctify them, Father, through thy word; thy word is truth." John 17:17. Then the word of God is perfect and complete for the man seeking after God.

But not only must we rely on the Bible for these reasons, but also because we shall be judged in accordance to our obedience to it. Paul says, "Christ will come with His power of angels, with flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God and obey not the Gospel of Jesus Christ." II Thessalonians 1:8. We must not add to, take from, or change in any way the word of God, and must obey it as it was spoken. Paul again says, "Though we or an angel from heaven preach any other gospel than that which we have preached unto you let him be accursed." Galatians 1:8. Since Christ confirmed the fact that the word of God is truth, anything other or contradictory to the Bible must be an untruth. John, in the book of Revelations (22:15), saw that without the gates of heaven are "dogs and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolators, and Whosoever loveth and maketh a lie." So, my friends, it is indeed dangerous to rely on anything other than the Bible, the word of God.

Is it unreasonable then, since the Bible is the Word of God and it is sufficient within itself and we shall be judged by its precepts in their purity, that I ask you to join us in our plea to "Speak where the Bible speaks and be silent where the Bible is silent. It is for us, therefore, to speak where the Bible speaks. We must plead with you as did Christ and the apostles that you obey the commandments of God given in the Bible. It is because the Bible commands it that we plead with you to believe. "For without faith it is impossible to please God." Hebrews 11:6. "And faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God." Romans 10:17. It is because the Bible tells us in II Corinthians 7:10, "godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death." And it is because Paul wrote in Romans 10:10, "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation," that we plead with you to confess Christ before men. It is because the Bible states that Baptism doth also now save us, I Peter 3:21, washes away our sins, Acts 22:16, that we plead with you to be buried with your Lord in baptism that you might come up a new creature in Christ Jesus.

Our only hope for personal salvation and the salvation of others is to return to God, the source of our salvation, and His word. The Bible to me is like a mountain stream. At the top of the mountain peak the snow is dazzling white and pure. The sun's rays beam down on the snow and soon the snow becomes water that winds its way down the mountain. As it first trickles down in streams, the water is clear and pure, free from an impurity, but as it flows downward, away from its source, it begins to pick up refuse and it soon becomes impure. By the time it reaches the bottom of the mountain and flows into a river, it is red and dark with the impurities that it picked up. It is not fit to drink. So with the word of God The farther it is taken from its source the more impurities will find their way into its teaching. We must return to the mountain tops and drink of the water of life in its purity. We must seek to learn and obey the truths of the Bible in their purity and simplicity. We must seek the Rock of Ages, that we may have refuge through the storm of death.

Handling Aright The Word

February 24, 1952

James W. Nichols

We in America have become best seller conscious. It is one of the greatest honors of the literary world to write a best seller. The Bible stands today as the world's best seller. It is not only the best seller, but it is the best book ever written or ever to be written because of its purpose, its power, and its design.

Someone has said, "This book contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners, and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy.

It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christian's charter. Here Paradise is restored, Heaven is opened, and the gates of hell disclosed.

Christ is its Grand Theme, our good its design, and the glory of God its end.

It should fill the memory, rule the heart, and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently, prayerfully. It is a mine of wealth, a river of pleasure, and a paradise of glory. It is given you in life, will be open at the Judgment, and will be remembered forever. It involves the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest labor, and condemns all who trifle with its sacred contents."

Though the Bible is the one best book in the universe, it is the most abused and misused book in the possession of men. It is like a powerful drug able to cure devastating diseases. But it must be handled properly or its misuse can cause eternal death. In II Timothy 2:15 the apostle Paul wrote to Timothy, "Study to show thyself approved unto God a workman that needeth not to be ashamed rightly dividing the word of truth," or as the revised version says, "handling aright the word of truth." Improper handling of the Bible on the part of preachers has caused the downfall of many a soul.

To handle the word of God right we must rightly divide it. Just as in school the child learns that he must divide his knowledge. When he needs to take 20 from 36 he must know to use his knowledge of subtraction rather than that of Multiplication, or division, or addition. When he is taking a history examination he must apply his historical knowledge rather than his knowledge of chemistry to answer the questions. So it is with the Word of God. For us to properly understand it we need to know the following things about each phase we study: who is speaking, to whom is it written, at what time and under what law. This is simple to know by a close study of the Bible.

One of the marvelous things of the word of God is that it is written so that all may understand it regardless of education. The Bible is divided into sixty-six books. These sixty-six books were written by forty inspired men over a period of some 13 to 16 centuries. These men lived in different periods of history, wrote independently of each other, many of whom never knew one another, and followed different occupations.

These sixty-six books are divided into two parts, which are commonly known as the Old and New Testament. The Old Testament contains thirty-nine books, while the New is composed of twenty-seven. The Old Testament pertains to God's dealings with man before the coming of Christ, while the new deals with the life of Christ and His means of accomplishing the redemption of men.

In the Old Testament we find books containing law, history, poetry, and prophecy. The first five are called law, the following twelve have been designated as history, with six known as poetry, and with the other sixteen connected in general with prophecy. Of course, it should be understood that these books do not deal exclusively with these subjects, but the general contents causes them to be divided in that manner.

The New Testament has been divided by men into the following groups: gospels, history, letters and prophecy. First are the four gospels, followed by Acts of the apostles, known as the history of conversions, with the next twenty-one being composed of letters to churches and individual Christians, while the last book, Revelation, deals with prophecy.

Now, with that clear cut division before us it should not be difficult for us to understand that we, in this day and age, should be concerned primarily with the New Testament in seeking favor with God, for the writer of Hebrews said, speaking of Christ, "He is the author of eternal salvation to all who obey Him."

This fact is further demonstrated as we study the Bible itself. The Bible is a revelation of God and His relationship with man. We find that since the beginning of time God has dealt with man in three different manners, which fall into three periods or dispensations of time. The periods are known as the Patriarchial, Mosiac and Christian.

The first, the patriarchial, derived its name from the fact that God's representative was the father of each family or tribe. The word patriarch means father. Now, under this system, the patriarch or father was ruler, priest and prophet. He had charge not only of the political life, but of the religious life of the family or tribe. In other words he was God's spokesman in that God spoke to him and he in turn to the family. The religion of the patriarchs has been named in that it appears that God allowed the family freedom in directing its affairs.

The commandments of God during this period are not uniform in that which God required of one family, he might not require of another family. For example, God commanded Abram to leave the land of Ur and his family. On the other hand He commanded Noah to build the ark. These commandments were specific in their direction to these individual families.

Another thing peculiar about the period was that there was no written law, but God spoke directly to the fathers. This manner of God's direction of man continues for about 2500 years, from the time of Adam until the giving of the Law of Moses on Mount Sinai. At this time God changed his manner of dealing with the children of Jacob or Israel.

The second dispensation is called Mosiac in that the Israelites' political and religious life was directed by the law given to Moses by God on Mount Sinai. God's law in this age was given only to Israelites, as fulfillment of God's promise to Abraham in Gen. 12:2, "And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing." This promise was repeated in Gal. 3:16-17, where the apostle Paul says the promise was made some 430 years before the giving of the Law of Sinai. This law was the first written system of religion given to men by God. During this period of time the family system of worship was largely a national system. No longer was the father of each family the ruler, priest and prophet, but of the 12 tribes of Israel one tribe was appointed from which men were to be selected to serve as priests with one as high priest. No longer was there an altar in each home but a national altar and one national house of worship.

Many people become confused in their study because they do not understand the purpose for which the Law of Moses was given. The primary purpose was to prepare a people from which the Son of God, Jesus Christ, should come. Paul says in Gal. 3:19, "Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgression, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made." That is the reason that this law was called the middle wall or partition in that it separated the Jewish people from other nations.

Heb. 10:1 gives us another reason for the law, and that was to picture by types and figures the most glorious system which was to come. Paul says in I Cor. 10:11, "Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the worlds are come." Time does not permit us to enumerate the many types and figures of the new law found in the old.

Still another purpose is also written in Gal. 3:24. The world needed to be prepared for Christ and His word. Therefore, the law was given as a school master or tutor to lead the people to Christ and His way.

One last thought concerning the Mosiac dispensation or the Law of Moses. It was given only to Israelites, and it was from the very beginning to be only a temporary system. For as we read a moment ago in Gal. 3:19, it was given till the seed should come to whom the promise was made. And in the 16th verse of this chapter Paul defines the seed as Christ. Therefore the law of Moses was to be finished or completed by Christ.

Today Christ is our King, and to Him we owe obedience. It is our plea that you will today by faith, repentance, confession, and baptism obey Christ, our only Hope.
