

LORGNETTE

Quarterly Review of Children's and Young Adults' Books

Author

Charlton-Trujillo, e.E and Pat Zietlow Miller

Illustrator

Illustrated by Keisha Morris

Reviewer

Medina, Maria

Pages

Unpaged

Price

$18.99

ISBN

978-0-593-46374-1

Publisher & Date

Viking, 2023

Classification

Fiction

Grade Level

K-2

Book Review: GIRL CAN BUILD ANYTHING, A

This is a wonderful picture book to empower girls and help them realize that they can do anything. The simple sentences convey the idea that big dreams can be achieved. The authors encourage readers not to give up and to try again and again as the girls in the story grow up to make more complicated builds.

The illustrations depict different construction tools. All types of girls are shown, and every reader will be able to identify with the illustrations. This is a fun book to read. Add this picture book to your collection for young readers.

