Biographical Note: Omar Burleson was born on March 19, 1906 to Joseph Marion and Elizabeth Burleson in Anson, Texas on their family farm where he spent most of his childhood and teenage years. This upbringing would later manifest in his involvement in the agriculture industry and community during his years as a U.S. Representative. He attended Hardin-Simmons University and Abilene Christian College and furthered his education at Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tennessee for law school. He completed graduate school and married Reese Deweese in 1929.

Burleson practiced law in northeast Texas and also served as a county judge, a special agent in the FBI, a general counsel member for the District of Columbia Housing Authority, and a secretary to U.S. Representative Sam Russel throughout the 1930s and early 1940s. During World War II Burleson joined the Naval Intelligence. Soon after discharge he was elected as the U.S. Representative for the seventeenth district in the eightieth Congress.

Burleson's interests and activity as a U.S. Representative particularly centered on the agricultural, veteran, taxation, and health aspects of government and these interests are represented in his papers. He served in congress until 1979. He passed away on May 14, 1991.
